Magnolia, N. C.-We spent the day very pleasantly on Tuesday in a little trip to Magnolia. It was a delightful day for such a thing, and the ride there and back in those handsome new passenger coaches, bailt in this city, at the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company's Shops, and under the kind attentions of Capt. Howell, in going and Capt. Leggett, on the return, was as pleasant as we could desire.

Soon after our arrival, we dropped in at the extensive Rosenvink Gardens, under the proprietorship of our irrepressible friend Newbury, where we found a most magnificent and extensive collection of plants, some 15,000 in number, and embracing upwards of 1,000 varieties. We were pleased to learn that Mr. Newbury's business has increased very much of late, and that it will justify him in creeting, next Fall, a new and more extensive hot-house, 150 feet in length and 15 feet wide.

We called on Mr. W. H. Foster, of the Advertiser, whom we found up to his ears in work, and busy in his projections for an extension of his little sheet at, we hope, no distant day. Mr. Poster's efforts should be well sustained, as he has the best of material to work upon, in the sympathies of |the people of one of the staunchest Demoeratic counties in the State, and one in which the office-holders have failed to find a lodgment.

We also visited the Natural Wells, two in number, located within about two miles of the town, and which are well worthy the inspection of all who may visit Magnolia. There are two deep circular cavities, situated very near each other, and about 30 feet in diameter. They never overflow, and, in the dryest seasons, are always well supplied (excuse us) with water. The theory is that there is some undiscovered outlet, by which the water is carried off as fast as it is supplied by secret sources.

Magnolia is a pretty little town, of about 190 inh. Editants, and growing quite rapidly. A large business has been done there, during the past season, in turpentine and cotton, and its prospects for the future are very bright.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necestive, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of the intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, seems, in a case like this, to present the strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess these high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and the uniterm success which attends its use in indigestion, nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which depress the physical sys tem and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of both sexes resort to it at this season as a preventive of that numerous and harassing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is a stimulant: a tonic, an alterative and a mild aperient-four essential restorative and protective elements of the ma-
